Right now I am sure lots of folks are feeling overwhelmed, but this is a Score of Poor for Communications from Dept of Public Health. On Friday, they said on the website and facebook that Vaccine appointments for 65+ and healthcare workers would open today, Monday 18th. (It was also in the Citizen Times) At 2 pm, they have finally said "later this week" after many, many citizens were watching anxiously for the signup notice. This is extremely poor communications. I don't know when they removed the specific statement about signups on the 18th from the website, but I do know it was on Facebook this afternoon. When they removed the statement from the website, they should have put a statement that said, Sorry - signups will not begin until XXX. That way we would have quit watching our email and the website. This has nothing to do with Vaccine availability, but with management of the communications. Changing the schedule is fine, but tell people.
