In case you have had issues lately with upload, see below where Axon is having tech issues. Your cameras will still record, and there should be no interruption with what is already stored. You might notice the website is slow, and that your wireless upload is not happening or slower than dial up (if you're old enough to remember what that is).

AXON EVIDENCE SERVICE UPDATE

While we have seen significant improvements in Axon Evidence site navigation, we have not implemented a root cause fix.

Our engineering team is continuing to investigate the disruption and status updates will continue to be provided.

We are sorry for any inconvenience this may have caused.
