Subject: NAACPLDF stance on at-large elections

I think you should reach out to Leah Aden at the NAACPLDF and explain why Asheville might throw away a victory they would die for. It's cool they are willing to fight for the African-American community in Beaufort, SC. Small town to get so much attention from them.

Hope you can talk some sense into Julie. This tit-for-tat between Asheville and Raleigh is only going to get worse.

Board of Elections said they are done with the new voter registration data, and they are waiting for the City sign off on it. They said the necessary info had been on the City's desk for two weeks. They are very forthcoming with info about the status of the process.

Thanks for calling out Keith on his grandstanding and turning down his $8K personal ask.
