Hey Vice-Mayor Sheneika, thanks so much for the time today. A heavy weight was lifted from my heart. There's too much to express in that regard so I'll leave it at that, for now.

I was taken with your hesitation to run for re-election. Though initially surprised I think I quickly understood where you are coming from. The amount of time, and the time that is take out of family time to go to community meetings for all the things, it has to be draining. I sense you may be questioning whether your heart is in it. Perhaps that fluctuates. There's certainly no shame in being done with this, but if you decide to run, you'd have my full support and I'd be happy to help in anyway I can.
