Subject: Employee Travel during Curfew

As expected, we are already getting a few calls requesting clarification on what necessary functions might allow people to be out during the curfew. In order not to get us onto that slippery slope, we left the declaration language intentionally vague.

I would suggest that those workers going to jobs at night (2nd and 3rd shift) in things like manufacturing should be excluded from the curfew requirements so long as they expedite their travel to and from work without lingering or unnecessarily remaining outside on public streets.

Unless either of you suggest otherwise, I'll provide that response as the questions come in.

Thanks,
