Hey so Greg and Tara from goodwill contacted me and they would like to be able to reach more people with their job care services. They want to do more and they thought that doing workshops each week with bringing a different employer would really help the only thing they need for this is a place to set up for 2 hours each Wednesday I like really set up with pamphlets and stuff that's just not feasible in our office and I was wondering if we could ask Mr Patel about using a room for this, sunrise staff would be in there with them and we would clean up after ourself. This would only be from 2-2 pm each Wednesday.

Thank you.

Ps, [REDACTED] works at Dollar General now :)
