Kit - thank you for putting this together. We were just talking about this internally, we have plenty of jobs open, and would be very interested in working on this.Ã

Ã
We can create a permanent pathway - homeless --> hotels --> housing.

I wonder if we could pull together a meeting of hospitality businesses and make a pitch about employment? I also wonder if we could use some of the emergency funding to run shuttles from the hotels they are staying in to central locations that would allow them to get to jobs, especially if the hotels aren't near transportation routes? Or even have someone work with them to understand the bus system and provide some vouchers to get them going?
Ã
We really need to understand the skill level of the folks involved. How is that best achieved? I'm tying in a few more people who I think could be helpful.

À
If these individuals are job-ready, then we have thousands of job opportunities in our region that they can take advantage of.À If they have transportation or other barriers, we would need to determine how to overcome those barriers.

À
If the individuals are not job-ready, then there are no cost educational and training programs at AB Tech and with other organizations that they can participate in to become job-ready.

À
For some of the individuals they may face benefits cliff issues so we would need to be able to address that.

À
The hospitality sector traditionally is the sector who is most open to working with individuals with barriers but right now virtually every sector is experiencing significant hiring needs.À IÆcve never seen employers so frustrated as they are now, our labor market is tighter now than when the unemployment rate.À Good news employers are raising wages and attempting to be more flexible.À East Fork Pottery just announced $20 per hour minimum wage, McKibbon Hotels have a $16 per hour minimum wage, and many others are following À their lead.À

À
We look forward to assisting you and your team to help provide more opportunities for this population.

À
Best wishes,
Nathan À À

À
Nathan andÀ Clark,
À
I hope you are well.À Happy Friday.

À
By next week we will have over 150 folks in hotels that were houseless.À Some partners may already have a plan how we can do job training for these individuals during this time,À possiblyÀ on site at the hotels.

À
We know there is a need for workers in the service industry.

À
Let me know what you think are the next steps.

À
I am copying Jenna in our office so she can help conveneÀ the right folks.

À
Please let me know if we need to add other folks to a meeting that we could have next week to develop aÀ plan.

À

I am so excited about this opportunity.

À

Stay safe,

Cathy
